

Franke at Seaside Physical Plant Coordinator, Kirby wins photography show

On Friday, August 28, Franke at Seaside Physical Plant Coordinator Treva Kirby was honored as the winner of the first Franke at Seaside Photography Show for her photograph "Cowboy Dreams", sponsored by the newly formed resident Photography Club. Taking second, third, and honorable mention are Carroll Gilliam's "Highland Sunset II," Elizabeth DeVane's "Haiti: Boys Graduation," and Lew Shuler's "Walk the Line" and "Ya all Wet," respectively, all residents of Franke at Seaside; also Dace Jones's "Wheeeee!", a photograph of cliff diving, was voted Most Popular Photograph by those at the opening reception. The show features the talents of residents from all levels of care at Franke and is hosted by Tasi Bites and Blends in the Shoppes at Seaside Farms; photography will remain on display through the month of September.

Local professional photographer Jonathan Reese was invited to judge the submissions from Franke residents and staff; all submissions were original photographs taken within the last year of the show. Photographs could be augmented using software, special camera filters, or other special apparatus, and the Photography Club held monthly workshops so that participants could learn about these options.

This first photography show is just one way that the Life Enrichment Department at Franke at Seaside empowers residents through our BeWell Philosophy: Bringing Everyone Wellness Enrichment for Lasting Life.

Directors Ellen Erickson

and Betsy Anderson along with show coordinator Jenny Owen and their staffs worked with residents to organize photography classes and opportunities throughout the summer, as well as helped them to complete the framing for the show. The show and supporting programs have enabled many Franke residents to tap into an interest and talent they didn't know they had, to learn a new skill, and to add a new element to their life experiences.
